From Your Head Pro

Take better aim

Many amateurs suffer with poor alignment because they aim where they want the ball to finish instead of where they want it to start flying.

As you stand back, eyeing up the fairway ahead, you should have a picture in your mind of how you see the ball moving towards the fairway. It's highly unlikely that this will be a straight line.

As you then approach the ball, make sure that you aim your body and the clubface parallel to where you expect the ball to start flying. Employing this simple technique should greatly improve your accuracy.

A FRIENDLY REMINDER FROM YOUR SUPERINTENDENT:

Scott Cook, Course Superintendent

Even with the Bermuda grass green and growing, please remember to fill your divots in on the fairways.

Also, don't forget to repair your ball marks on the green; just remember how much you hate putting on greens with lots of ball marks!

Remembering to practice these two small steps will help to improve everyone's playing experience!
